March 2021 Bulletin

The sun is shining today as I write this and as restrictions start to ease I hope that this short bulletin finds you all in fine form! It will take some time for the health and social care sector to work its way through a 'recovery phase', however the light at the end of the 'Covid-19 tunnel' is looking a little brighter for many.

Please feel free to share this bulletin with colleagues who may be interested in receiving our communications direct to their email inbox too - this can be arranged by registering on our website via the button below

The National Insulin Safety Week Campaign takes place in May this year; 17-23 May.

We would encourage health and social care providers (who care for people requiring insulin) to register and take part to raise awareness amongst colleagues, families and patients/residents/service users. Like hospitals and GP practices, care providers can run events and activities to improve understanding and reduce insulin errors.

Discount code expiring soon...

As a supporter of the National Feet Week campaign earlier this month, DUET diabetes shared foot related information and blogs, particularly in relation to the 'diabetic foot'. We also launched the NFW10 promotional code.

Quoting this code provides a 10% discount on all bookings made during March for upcoming scheduled workshops. This code is valid until midnight on 31 March 2021. Visit the virtual workshops page on our website for workshop details, along with links to Eventbrite to book.

Last Spring and Summer we produced a number of blogs and have more planned for this year. Our latest is a filmed interview with three experienced Podiatrists discussing their role in diabetic footcare.

Later this spring we will be sharing some food related blogs/vlogs around the topic of 'Diabetes: eating for health'.
